JAPAN ACCUSED OF DISCRIMINATION AGAINST AMERICAN CITIZENS

Failure To Keep Promise To Preserve Open Door

STRONG NOTE TO TOKYO: THREE-POINT REQUEST

Washington, October 27.
IN A NOTE, DATED OCTOBER 6, THE UNITED STATES ACCUSES Japan of discrimination against American citizens in their legitimate interests in China.

Longer and couched in stronger terms than any yet sent to Tokyo, the Note declares that the Japanese Government failed to live up to its promise to preserve the open door in China, and makes a three-point request for the removal of such measures in Chinese areas controlled by the Japanese Army, which is similar in its adverse effect upon American business, to that existing in Manchukuo.

The Note lists at length instances of discrimination against American interests, notably in Tsingtao, and significantly contrasts America's unhindered treatment of Japanese interests in the American controlled territory with the interference to which Japan has subjected United States citizens and their interests not only in China but in Japan itself.

The Note states that an early reply will "be helpful" in the interest of relations between the United States and Japan.—Reuter.

United States Contemplating Financial Aid To China

Shanghai, October 27.
That the United States Government is contemplating large-scale financial assistance to China as the result of efforts of the economic mission headed by K. P. Chen in presenting the Chinese military and economic situation to high American officials is reported in a Washington dispatch received here.

Much-needed heavy machinery could be sold to China on easy terms provided the Reconstruction Finance Corporation would underwrite part of the credit.

In the field of food supply, Mr. Chen's associates are understood to have told officials of the Department of Agriculture that famine in China could be staved off if the United States disposed of its surplus wheat and cotton on an export subsidy basis as suggested by Mr. Henry Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture.

It is reliably learned that Mr. Chen and high officials of the U.S. Treasury Department have reached an agreement for continuance of American purchases of Chinese silver. Officials pointed out that silver buying, coupled with cotton and wheat sales to China at "dumping prices," would bolster China's dollar balances, enabling the Chinese to resume their buying of American warplanes and munitions.—International.

SUPPORT FOR CHIANG

Chengtu, Oct. 27.
General Wang Tsan-hsu, Chairman of the Szechuen Provincial Government, General Teng Shih-hao, Pacification Commissioner, and General Pan Wen-hua, Vice-Pacification Commissioner, are backing Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and have given promises of their support for continuing the policy of resistance. It is learned that a meeting will be called on October 30 to rally the local forces.—Reuter.

CHINESE SHOULD FIGHT ON

Mrs. Haldane's Encouragement

Kunming (Yunnanfu), Oct. 27.
Chinese should not be discouraged by the loss of Canton and the Wuhan cities but should continue to fight to the bitter end with determination, stated Mrs. Charlotte Haldane, special correspondent of the London "Daily Herald" and representative of the Comité Mondial des Femmes contre la Guerre et le Fascisme, in the course of an address at a reception given in her honour by the Kunming Women's Association yesterday.

The eminent woman leader expressed confidence that under the leadership of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek the Chinese forces would be able to engage in protracted warfare to wear out the Japanese strength.

She declared in an animated tone that Japan is sinking deeper and deeper in the quagmire.—Central News.

Reorganisation Of China Will Take 10 Years

Berlin, Oct. 27.
The Japanese Ambassador to Italy declared that Britain's pre-eminence in China had diminished, according to a report published in a German paper which adds that the Ambassador said that the new China would become another Manchukuo and predicts that hostilities will come to a speedy end.

The reorganisation of China will take ten years and will be separated into provincial governments under one president like the United States.

China's military and foreign affairs will be controlled by Japan under alliances between the countries.

The Japanese Ambassador added that there would hardly be complications with foreign powers as Japan does not pursue territorial expansion.—Reuter.

ROBBERY WAVE IN COLONY

Junk Boarded In British Waters

Three robberies, in one of which the assailants ran away without taking anything, engaged the attention of the police authorities yesterday.

At 8.20 a.m. when Chung Yim-luk, 38, managing partner of the Yee On Company, was walking in Canal Road west on his way to pay in $1,803 to the Nanyang Brothers Tobacco Company, he was accosted by two men who had the appearance of rickshaw coolies.

One of the men threw pepper in Chung's eyes. Chung struck out and the would-be robbers bolted one running towards Happy Valley and the other along Bow-lington Canal Road.

Chung, with his money intact, made a report to the police.

A married woman, Luk Sin-chun, aged 33, living at 125 Shanghai Street with two amahs, in a report to the Shamshui Police related that at 9.30 a.m. two strangers entered her premises and, after binding and gagging the three occupants, proceeded to ransack the floor and decamped with $24 in Hongkong notes, $150 in $5 notes of the Bank of Communications and some jewellery.

ROBBERY ON JUNK

The third instance was a robbery aboard a junk in British waters.

Wong Sai, 31, master of Class IV boat 349Z, reported to the police that about 10 p.m. on Wednesday he and his two fellows were asleep aboard the craft off Sha Kung Mu, Ping Shan District. (Continued on Page 9)

BRITAIN NOT READY FOR AIR ATTACK IN RECENT CRISIS

London, October 27.
REGARDING THE AIR RAID PRECAUTIONS during the recent crisis, the Administrative Chief of the Air Raid Precautions Department of the Home Office declared, "We had no illusions about the state of unpreparedness should the country receive an air attack."

"We were not prepared: we had hardly begun to prepare and we do not know how all the failures that occurred during the recent crisis can be avoided next time."

The Administrative Chief described the regulations issued by the A. R. P. Department as probably the sloppiest regulations produced by any Government department.

He said that the Government classes had done very little towards air raid precautions work which was mostly done by industrial workers.—Reuter.

RETIREMENT OF BISHOP OF DURHAM

London, Oct. 27.
The retirement is announced of the Right Rev. Hensley Henson, D. D., Bishop of Durham since June, 1920.

Aged 74, the Bishop was formerly Canon of Westminster, and Rector of St. Margaret's. He is an outstanding figure in the Established Church and is a man of wide sympathies and an apostle of Church reunion.

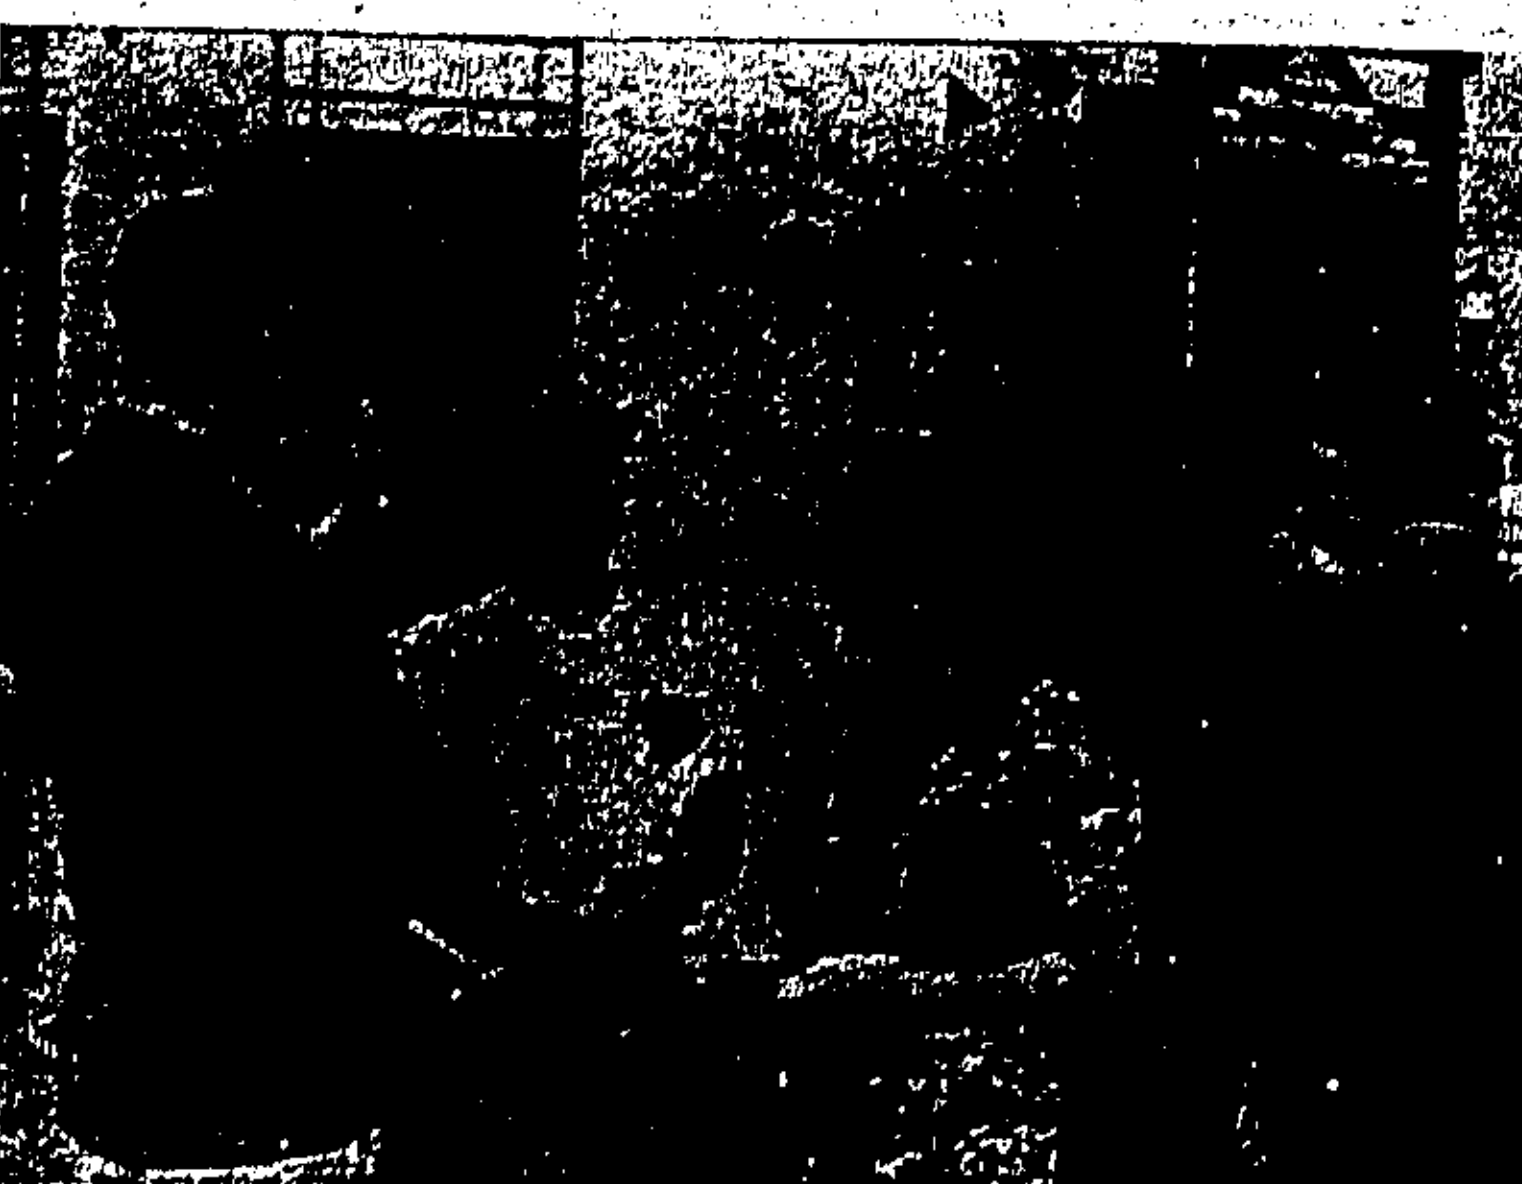

He was Dean of Durham prior to becoming, in December, 1917, Bishop of Hereford.—Reuter and Special.

YANGTZE TO BE OPENED BY END OF THIS YEAR

Shanghai, Oct. 27.

International trade and shipping in the Yangtze River will be opened up by the Japanese by the end of the year, according to Lloyd's Shipping Review. The British editor says, "My assurance is from a usually reliable source in Tokyo shipping circles."—Reuter.

'Paying Camps' To Be Erected In Kowloon

REFUGEE COUNCIL GIVES APPROVAL

BISHOP ON SOUTH CHINA SITUATION

Approval of the proposal of the Committee to go forward with a scheme for housing refugees by the erection of "paying camps," was voiced at the meeting of the Emergency Refugee Council at St. John's Cathedral Hall last night. It was also decided that details be left to the Committee and that general funds of the Society were not to be used in building, though it could be drawn upon for maintenance.

Bishop R. O. Hall, who was in the Chair, supported by Bishop H. Valtorta, stated that Government and the Chinese Chamber of Commerce had agreed to contribute a sum of $35,000, on a fifty-fifty basis for this purpose. With that money they could provide accommodation for about 350 people. (Continued on Page 8)

COUNTRY FIRST RATHER THAN MONEY AND COST

Fine Discipline Of Eighth Route Army Described

CHINESE SOLDIER NOW COMMANDS RESPECT OF THE WORLD

"I HOPE YOU WILL THINK OF YOUR BROTHERS AND SISTERS in the Far North-west and that you will adopt and maintain the same spirit as they—of no surrender of China to anybody. I would like you to follow their example of 'Not afraid to Die' and 'Not Want Money.' I want you, just as the members of the 8th Route Army and the people of the North-west are doing, to put your country first, rather than money and the cost to yourself."

Such was the statement made to members of the Hongkong Y's Men's Club at their weekly tiffin held yesterday in St. Francis Hotel by Dr. F. R. Brown, of the Canadian Church Missionary Society, who for the past five months has been doing medical work among the Chinese soldiers in north-western China and who is returning to his duties to-day.

The meeting was presided over by Mr. Peter H. Sin, who, immediately after the meeting, called the club directors together and passed a vote to grant the sum of $500 to Dr. Brown to carry on his work.

Dr. Brown explained at the outset that, while he worked with the 8th Route Army, he was not a Red and did not receive the dollar a day which all members of the ex-Communist Army from the highest officer to the lowest ranker received: he only received his food from the 8th Route Army.

Not wishing to remain at his post in Kweichow following its occupation by the Japanese, the speaker said, he decided to do some free lance medical work a humanitarian rather than political point of view. As a result, he (Continued on Page 8).

TERRORIST ATTACK ON BROKERAGE

Shanghai, Oct. 27.

A second terrorist attack was made on the Tung Shik Kung office in Kiangsu Road this afternoon when a hand grenade was thrown into the premises.

The assailants in making their escape fired two shots killing one Chinese employee. Two months ago the office was burnt down.

WORLD AFFAIRS

SPAIN—A MENACE TO PEACE

Every Volunteer Must Be Withdrawn From War

THE SPEAKER IN THE WORLD AFFAIRS SERIES, broadcast from Daventry last night, was Professor J. L. Brierley who spoke about the present situation in Spain.

He said that as far as he could see it offered no chance of settlement to the advantage of either party and it was in view of certain changes in the present situation that he thought the present situation was a menace to peace.

At the League Assembly last September, the Spanish Government announced that they had decided to do away with all foreign volunteers and as far as General Franco's side was concerned some 10,000 volunteers had been sent away recently.

These were all Italians but apparently the withdrawal of Italian volunteers is not meant to weaken Italian support for General Franco.

CANTON-HANKOW LINE CUT

Shanghai, Oct. 27.

It is unofficially claimed that additional Japanese detachments, converging rapidly on the Wuhan area from sectors south of the Yangtze, succeeded in cutting the Canton-Hankow Railway in three places and began to close in on large numbers of Chinese troops retreating southward and westward from Hankow.

Sections of the railway were destroyed at Taolipu, Sohseng-chiao and Chichangpu, respectively, 18, 25 and 12 kilometres north of Sienning.—Reuter.

Going further the speaker spoke about the Non-Intervention Committee, and remarked that it had had a checkered career but it had not prevented intervention, and volunteers continued to be sent. What might be truly said, however, was that more volunteers would perhaps have been sent to Spain had it not been for this Committee.

AN AGREEMENT

In July 1938 the Committee reached an agreement on the British plan for the withdrawal of volunteers and at present the Committee has sent a delegation to Spain to see if General Franco's objection to this plan may be overcome.

To this the speaker added that Spain would not cease to be a menace until every non-Spanish volunteer was withdrawn from the civil war.

CLAIM FOR POSSESSION OF PREMISES

Judgment For Defendant

Judgment for defendant, Yiu Sam, trading under the name of San Ah Restaurant, who it will be recalled opposed a claim brought by Yuen Yam, plaintiff, represented by the Hon. Mr. Leo D'Almada Jr., instructed by Mr. D. McCallum, for the possession of the first floor of No. 12, Fleming Road and the ground and first floors of No. 14 Fleming Road, Wanchai, was given by the Acting Chief Justice, Mr. Justice R. E. Lindsell at the Supreme Court yesterday when the case was concluded.

Mr. H. Somerset Fitzroy, instructed by Mr. C. A. Superton, appeared for the defendant. It will be recalled that at the previous hearing, Mr. D'Almada had said that the premises were let on a monthly tenancy basis and the action was based on a notice to quit. This notice, was alleged to have been served on April 30 last and, according to the pleadings, the defence was threefold: (a) a denial that the tenancy was monthly, (b) a denial that the notice was served on April 30, but on May 1, and (c) a claim for relief under the Evictions Ordinance by the defendant.

At yesterday's hearing, the defendant Liu Sam, married woman, gave evidence to the effect that she had not received the notice as was alleged, on April 30.

COUNCIL'S SUBMISSIONS

In his submission, Mr. D'Almada said that the sole question was whether the notice had or had not been served on April 30 and submitted that the evidence as to the serving of the notice was true.

Mr. Fitzroy stated that it was the duty of the plaintiff to prove that the notice was served on April 30. The clerk said that he went to the premises, saw the defendant's husband and asked him who he was according to the evidence, the clerk then gave him the notice.

The main thing was concluded. Counsel said that the notice was never received at all before the point at issue and submitted that the plaintiff had failed in her claim.

Giving judgment His Lordship said that it was common ground that in this matter the court must be satisfied if it was to go on any further that the notice must have been served on the proper date (April 30) on the defendant, his servant or agent, which would include tenant, husband or wife.

His Lordship was satisfied on the evidence that there was a service of the notice on April 30 but he was not satisfied that the notice had been served on any one whom plaintiff had shown was defendant's servant or agent. It was served on someone, said His Lordship, but on whom, he did not know.

Judgment with costs was accordingly given for the defendant.

COMMITTED TO SESSIONS

Appearing on remand before Mr. R. Edwards at the Central Court yesterday on charges in connection with the theft of a mail bag and letters from the General Post Office, three men, one of whom was a postman, were committed to stand trial at the Criminal Sessions.

The defendants were: Tse Suk, a postman, charged with unlawful opening of a mail bag on October 6, larceny of 28 letters and conspiracy to steal letters; Ho Kai-ming, alias, Chui Sai-chu, accused of the possession of forged dies intended to resemble dies used for sealing mail bags, and conspiracy to steal letters, and Ho Fong, accused of conspiracy to steal letters.

Detective-Inspector L. R. Whant was in charge of the case.

SOCCER PLAYER IN COURT

Cruelty Alleged By Wife

Yeung Shiu-yick, the well-known South China "B" football player, appeared before Mr. H. R. Butters at the Central Court on a summons brought by his wife, Leung Sau-ying, for persistent cruelty between November 11, 1937, and June 15 this year.

Mr. Alfred S. K. Lau appeared on behalf of the complainant. Mr. Lau said arrangements had been made for both parties to come to terms, but after several meetings these proved to be unsatisfactory and the case had to be brought before the Court.

It was said that complainant was married to defendant in 1934. The relations between the parties went well until a year later. Defendant, it was alleged, had on various occasions assaulted his wife. This was apparently approved by defendant's mother and relatives which made it unbearable for complainant, and as a result her health had been affected.

On June 14 complainant was assaulted by defendant and was pushed out of the house. She reported the incident to the S. C. A. and was advised to stay away from her husband.

After further evidence the hearing was adjourned to November 3.

Two Arabs, armed with rifles, were taken prisoners in the Samarial district.—Transocean.

FIRE DESTROYS SAI STREET HOUSE

20 Minutes' Wait For Water

The whole of No. 7, Sai Street, was destroyed by a fire which broke out shortly after 11 a.m. yesterday.

The fire started on the ground floor of the premises, which was used as a roast pork shop, and soon spread to the roof.

Five appliances, under the Superintendent, Mr. G. C. Moss, were soon on the scene, but it was not until twenty minutes later before any water could be obtained for it was during the "close hour" of restrictions.

The fire was got under control after 1 p.m. No persons were injured.

The Emergency Unit, under Sub-Inspector R. J. Hunt was also on the scene.

CONFIDE IN FAITH PRIOR

NON-DRINKER writes of her difficulties in social gatherings where alcohol is served. She does not care for spirits and has found herself unpopular on this account.

You are quite young, and to fall into the habit of drinking would not assist you in the development of your health or character. It is not necessary to imbibe in spirits at a social gathering to be popular. There are many people who drink nothing but soft drinks, or a glass of wine.

Do not call attention to the fact that you do not drink spirits or that you must argue this fact. To be sociable order some light refreshment, tea, coffee or a glass of sherry this will demonstrate to those of your friends who demand your participation in drinking, that you are sociable. To be in the company of people who drink a great deal of alcohol you must be on your guard.

Watch what you say and do and where you go. Quiet, intelligent, charming and an interesting conversationalist are the characteristics you should develop. I believe it would be wiser for you to drop a few of the people who enjoy evenings of drinking and seek other companions.

UNDECIDED is a girl of 18 years old. In many instances her escort of an evening entertainment has insisted upon taking a short drive before delivering her to the family home. She does not exactly enjoy these drives being a business girl who needs a certain amount of rest, and wishes to know how to overcome the outings.

A motor drive at night in Hong-kong or Kowloon is very pleasing and restful. However, I agree with you that a certain number of hours are required for a business girl. It is not advisable to tour the country side late in the evening with a young man of slight acquaintance. You can overcome this practise by definitely stating that you do not care for a motor ride late in the evening.

There are very few escorts if informed of this fact definitely, take advantage of a young lady's wishes and go contrary to them. It would be wiser for you to refuse further invitations with men who cannot respect your desire and who are inconsiderate and selfish as these escorts you speak of have been.

A CHILDREN LOVER who has been married four years is desirous of raising a family. However, the husband does not wish this state to exist and the fact is causing difficulties in their home life.

The desire for children in the home is perfectly natural. You and your husband have been married four years, and he has been employed during the whole of that time. Certainly you have saved some money. Both of you should understand and know the other quite well in this time.

To-day the upbringing and keeping of children is more difficult from the financial aspect than years ago. But there are many children born in the present time who, no doubt, do not inherit the heritage which you could afford a child.

Try to have a young child of intelligent age visit your home and associate with your husband. He may be afraid of children, but this is not uncommon. In a quiet and subtle manner put suggestions, incidents or accounts of young children before him.

Draw to his attention the comfort, happiness and interest which children about the home can create. Above all save each month money toward the occasion when you have a child so that he will not feel that the baby is a drain on the family finances.

DEAR FAITH PRIOR: I believe he was in love with me, though he never actually said so. The other day he behaved in a very strange way, and I was at once hurt and disappointed. I resolved to put him out of my mind. In thinking it over, I have might have misjudged him through a hasty conclusion.

I have no way of seeing him. I want to write a letter and if necessary say goodbye in a good spirit. Do you think he would resent it? He seems to be a very reasonable young man. Is it improper for a girl to write to a man? Would he think I was cheap?—HESITATING.

DEAR HESITATING: It is not improper for a lady to write to a man. Yes, write him a very short note. Do not mention the subject of love, nor the incident which took place whereby your feelings were hurt, nor your conclusions. A goodbye is not necessary, as from your letter you are still fond of the gentleman and everyone has their quarrels and misunderstandings.

In the note extend an invitation for tea in your home or to a social gathering. Suggest a meeting between the two and inform him simply of your wish in seeing him again.

It is not cheap for a young lady to write a note or letter to a gentleman provided she makes the contents intelligent and interesting. Always remember one of the famous poets in the past made this remark, "Women and fools write a letter"; consequently, make your note to the point and never put on paper any information which you would be ashamed to have anyone read.

(Each week in this column, FAITH PRIOR answers questions of a personal nature submitted by readers of the Daily Press.)

Fashion PRE-VIEW

SEEN AND UNSEEN OF FORMAL EVENING ATTIRE

YOU ARE GOING FORMAL THIS EVENING! The majority of events arriving on the calendar in the coming months will require dressing and "dolling-up" for the occasion.

Of course, you pay attention to the complexion and hair. If this is not up to the mark and times, pay a visit to your beauty shop and have a facial, manicure, even a pedicure, and be sure your hair does up.

In the late afternoon, try and snatch a few winks of beauty sleep, soaking pads of cotton wool in witch hazel or your favourite eye lotion and apply to the closed eyes.

All is ready for the dressing. Few undies are worn in the evening, decree fashion experts. Your slippers, in brocade, silver, gold or coloured satin are perched on the stool beside sheer flesh hose, or very light gun metal.

To be right up to the minute in comfort and fashion, a net, satin and lastex "all-in-one" foundation garment should be waiting for you to slip into. These garments are very supple and light in weight. At the same time, they provide a firmness for busts, and a smooth fit for your gown around the waist and hips. Straps, or without, as the costume demands, can be used on the garment.

A slip will also be worn if the dress is of light texture and is transparent. All these types of gowns have their own slips to match which are cut on the bias and come with or without shoulder straps as the style calls for.

Now, for the piece de resistance, your evening gown.

LARGE SELECTION
Fashion provides a large selection of materials, tailoring and colouring this winter. There are several outstanding new details which you will find in almost every costume. Very low neck in front, is one of them. Many gowns have no shoulder straps or attachments, they remain over the busts through fine bones running up the bodice. Low backs still hold a place in the formal dress picture.

The skirts have changed a bit; fullness is in the back, many of the front being perfectly plain and straight. Also you have the old friend "bouffant" back again, the full skirt gathered at the waist with stiffening on the underside causing the material in the skirt to stand out.

Trains are in the minority, and many of the gowns are shorter in front than the back. This facilitates your dancing. A few of the new dresses have last years line in a tight fitting hip in the skirt which flares at the knee.

The materials of these formal gowns are very rich in texture and colour. Lame and metal cloths, moire, velvet, satin, ribbing, tulle, stiff lace and tulle are much in evidence, and do not think the useful chiffon is out, it is put to a great deal of use and in large quantities, the skirts being very full.

VIVID HUES
Colours are single or combined. Stay away from pastels and ponder or select the richer shades or the vivid hues.

Inspect all the old family jewellery and put it on, heavy with many jewels, the new colours and styles do not call for great use of the delicate adornments. You must sparkle in the electric lighted hours.

Flowers, feathers, jewels, halos, veils, sequins are worn in the hair. However, you will not be out of place with only a new up style coiffure which gleams from 200 rightly strokes of the hair brush. Use a strip of tulle, a sequin cap, or a veil to keep your locks in place, to and fro, in the night winds.

And the wrap, which complements the costume and keeps you warm. You are fully dressed, your beauty work is finished, and the last dab of perfume behind the ears and on the arms and wrists has been administered. This wrap may be velvet, lined in satin. Brocade satin or metal cloth make stunning coats in full length, knee length, capes or the short bolero.

Fur is really top fashion news, now, for evening wraps, but you will not be astray in other fabrics. White ermine and fox are the outstanding evening furs, mink, Kolinsky and sables are always smart and these furs made be made in the long, medium or very short garment.

THE GLOVES
Cuddling into your wrap you reach for the evening gloves, and you are very detrop without them this year; they stretch nearly to the shoulder in colours or plain white. Your evening bag suits your fancy, brocade, velvet, silk jewelled any of them are in order.

Sports Outfit

Ideal for resort wear and casual sports is this two-piece ensemble worn by Anne Shirley. Her soft woollen jacket repeats the same canary yellow of her sheer wool skirt and is, barred with a green the shade of new grass and a rich beige. A brown off-the-face sailor of fine straw, chamolais yellow gloves, a large brown suede purse and brown pumps of suede complete the jaunty ensemble.

If you wish to be very gay have a muff to match your evening wrap of fur or one with a fur trim. This should be small with a wrist handle and inside zipper compartment.

The grande final is a cluster or small fresh flower corsage, pinned with a jeweled corsage-pin to your wrap.

Thus you set forth swishing and rustling in your new formal costume leaving a trail of deep, gamorous scent in your wake.

Round The Shops

All of you are now winter-shopping-minded, and the shops in the Colony are ready with new stocks.

A two or one-piece wool knit sports dress is a delight to every woman's heart and a necessary part of her wardrobe. One piece angora and worsted knit frocks, in a wide range of colour, two and three-piece woollen knit suits in contrasting shades with new and interesting trims, are now on display in Lane Crawford's Salon.

Do not forget to cast your eyes on the suede jackets in four styles. The colours are exceptional. These coats can be cleaned, and there are one hundred combinations to choose from.

Style In Evenings

We all want to appear at our very best and different too at formal or dressy events. Off-the-shoulder gowns in velvet, lace and moire are very new and dashing. An excellent gown at mayo's in the Gloucester Arcade, is a simple, tailored, full-skirted mustard crepe evening frock, very low in front and at the back. A velvet plaid jacket with long sleeves gives the smartness to this gown, which is fashioned for one of twenty five types.

The Wool Suit

Another must for a winter wardrobe is the woollen suit. The year the coats may be longer or shorter, but the standard suit style of jacket and skirt never dies. Excella, in Kowloon, provides many interesting wool treatments of colours and styles in suits, two-toned or solid colour. The tailoring is very good and the lining will wear very well. Plaid skirts and solid jackets are very new. You will note the interesting trimmings of leather, which doli up and create the right touch for these garments.

Season Of Furs

This winter, more than ever before, furs are very, very smart. The less expensive furs are treated and used more this year than before.

Of course, if the exchequer allows, you will want a rich, well-matched, glossy fur coat—fox or jacket. They can be worn for so many occasions.

Take a trip to see Mrs. Willy in the Metropole Hotel Building on the third floor, and inspect the furs she has received from the north. If finances are a great question, you can solve your problem here. Coats, capes, scarfs, foxes, hats, muffs, and trimmings of fur are used widely this year.

When you are visiting this shop, you will not be able to help admiring and wanting one of the two-piece knit suits in colour with new and different trims on the jackets and belts.

LAZY? DON'T FORGET YOUR EXERCISE!

"Hand your clothes on a hickory limb And don't go near the water!" That bit of advice to daughters who "would go out to swim" was the height of humour in 1890. In 1938 it is serious business. A well known beauty authority, Helena Rubenstein, has come out as a strong advocate of "dry swimming."

To be streamlined, SWIM, she says, but swim right at home on your bedroom floor.

Swimming motions, as everybody knows, are great weight reducers and body streamliners. Not everyone can take the time for a swim in a pool or bay each day. But these exercises are only effective if done each day, hence the dry land swimming.

To reduce the hips and that extra plump tummy the Olympic crawl movement guarantees—

1-Lie on a bench, face down. Support yourself in any way you wish with your hands, but hold your legs free of the floor, on a straight line with your body.

SHORT STEPS

2-Walk on air, making short mincing steps, the toes turned slightly inward, pigeon-toe fashion. Move your feet up and down alternately and evenly.

3-Gradually get more action into your leg work, pretending you are trying to shake the ankles from the legs—this being the general idea of the crawl—leg kick. The width of the kick should be about ten inches. As the knees pass each other they should barely brush. The legs should be relaxed, with scarcely any play at the knees. The power for the kick comes from the back and abdominal muscles, not the hips or knees. The up beat gains its power from the stomach muscles, the down beat from the back muscles.

4-Practice for about two minutes—then rest.

Arm movements in this crawl are grand for firming the bust and taking that fat roll off the shoulders. (And think of the very new fashion low neck evening gowns!)

Lie face down on the bench. Extend the right arm in front of the body, in line with right shoulder, palm down and fingers closed. Pull hand back until it reaches the hip, then raise it out of the "water," carry it past the head, close to the ear to original position. Left arm, the same. When the right hand is beginning its downward drive, the left hand emerges at the hip.

The motions are gradual, rhythmic and unburdened of the arm motion—back the water in a boat.

So hang your hickory limb—away from the into the swim.

THE SERVICES

ROYAL NAVY LAUNCH OF THE JUPITER

The destroyer Jupiter, third of the eight vessels of the Javelin class authorized in 1935, was launched on October 14 at the shipyard of Yarrow and Co., Limited, Scotstoun, Glasgow. These ships are of 1,690 tons, armed with 4.7 in. guns, and are the heaviest destroyers ever built for the Navy with the exception of the Tribal class now being passed into service.

NAVAL ATTACHE IN LISBON

Commander H. D. Owen, who has been appointed as Naval Attache in Lisbon is an interpreter in French and Spanish and has had a good deal of service overseas.

RANK OF RE-EMPLOYED OFFICERS

It is provided in the King's Regulations and Admiralty Instructions that retired officers who have been given a step in rank on or after retirement will have the right to the title and uniform of the higher rank, but that (except in cases of automatic promotion) such step in rank will not give the right of command among naval officers, which shall be governed by their seniority in the rank last held on the active list at the date of retirement.

The uniform and title of such officers when re-employed do not therefore indicate their right of command among naval officers.

A commander on the active list, for example, may have the right to command a captain on the retired list. In view of the difficulty, especially during the recent emergency, of employing retired officers in such a manner that this anomaly should not cause inconvenience, it has been decided that an officer who has received a step in rank on or after retirement (except where this step was granted automatically by virtue of, and in strict seniority) will, while serving, use the title and wear the uniform of the rank last held on the active list at the date of retirement unless he has been specially appointed in a higher rank.

The emoluments received by an officer while serving are not affected by this new order, nor does it apply to flag officers.

SPECIALISTS FROM THE R.N.R.
Officers transferred to the Royal Navy from the R.N.R., states a new order, will be eligible to specialize in the following branches:—Submarine, Fleet Air Arm, Anti-Submarine, Physical and Recreational Training, and Hydrographic Surveying.

In the event of an officer being specially recommended to specialize in gunnery, torpedoes, navigation, or signals, the case will be considered on its merits, having regard to the number of candidates for specialization from the general list. Except for the Fleet Air Arm, the number of specialists required is not likely to be large.

RESERVE DESTROYERS

Commander R. A. Startin, O.B.E., A.M., has resumed duty as Commander (D) of the destroyers in reserve at Portsmouth, after other service during the emergency. Commander H. T. W. Powsey also resumed duty recently as Commander (D) of the destroyers of the Reserve Fleet at Devonport.

BATTALION COMMANDS

The War Office announces that Major L. Bootle-Wilbraham, M.C., of the 1st Battalion, The Royal Norfolk Regiment, has been selected for command of a battalion, Coldstream Guards, vice Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Oliver Leese, D.S.O., who will be appointed to the Staff in India with effect from September 28.

The War Office also announces the following appointments:—

Major and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel E. C. Hayes, The Royal Norfolk Regiment, has been selected for command of the 2nd Battalion, The Royal Norfolk Regiment, vice Lieutenant-Colonel W. G. Campbell, O.B.E., who will be appointed to the Staff with effect from September 28.

Major and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel N. McMicking, D.S.O., M.C., has been selected for command of the 2nd Battalion, The Black Watch, vice Lieutenant-Colonel A. K. McLeod, who retires on retired pay recently.

7TH DIVISION STAFF

The staff of the new 7th Division, for service in Palestine, has been made complete with the appointment of Colonel F. Thornton, from command of the 8th Hussars, as G.S.O.1. The complete staff of the new Division is as follows:—

Commander.—Major-General R. N. O'Connor, D.S.O., M.C.
G.S.O.1.—Colonel F. Thornton, G.S.O.2.—Major J. B. Bettington, M.C.

G.S.O.3.—Major F. T. R. Darley, A.A. and Q.M.G.—Colonel W. G. Campbell, O.B.E.
D.A.Q.M.G.—Major L. J. Woodhouse, M.C.

Staff Captain.—Major G. F. H. Stainer.
D.A. Provost-Marshal.—Captain D. Stuart.

Camp Commandant.—Lieutenant A. C. A. Mackinnon.
A.D.C.—Captain R. G. Collingwood.

There will be sufficient infantry in Palestine to give Lieutenant-General R. H. Haining two Divisions. Already on duty there are 14th, 16th, 18th, and 19th Infantry Brigades, the brigade from India, and one made up from home and Malta. Soon there will be added units of a mounted brigade. These brigades will be supported by artillery and engineers at considerable strength, and there is a reserve of cars and tanks in Egypt.

8TH HUSSARS

The War Office announces that Major T. G. Watson, 8th Hussars, has been selected for command of the 8th Hussars vice Lieutenant-Colonel F. Thornton.

THE ROYAL SCOTS

The War Office announces that Major D. J. McDougall, M.C., The Royal Scots, has been selected for command of the 2nd Battalion, The Royal Scots, vice Lieutenant-Colonel G. E. Hall, M.C., whose tenure expired on October 18.

BLÉNHEIM BOMBERS IN IRAQ

Medium bombers of the Bristol Blenheim type have made their appearance in overseas units in recent months. The first to complete with them is No. 30 (Bomber) Squadron at Habbaniya, Iraq, commanded by Squadron Leader G. H. Stainforth, A.F.C., the former Schneider Trophy pilot, who in 1931 raised the world's speed record to 407 1/2 miles an hour.

The Blenheim is the fastest twin-engine bomber in the world, with a top speed of 280 miles an hour. It has also a long range with a big military load. Flights between Habbaniya and Abouki, a distance of 511 miles, have been completed in 2 1/2 hours at an

MOST MERCILESS WAR EVER WAGED

Fall Of Hankow Turning Point

London, Oct. 28.
The turning point has been reached in what perhaps is the most merciless war ever waged, says "The Times" in a leading article on the fall of Hankow.

In regard to the future, the journal says, if General Chiang Kai-shek can preserve among his followers a balance between the flabby right and uncompromising left, there is no reason to suppose that China will discontinue organized resistance to invasion.

If China does continue fighting, it may be assumed that the centre of national affairs will shift to the south-west rather than to the north-west from Hankow.

Contact with Burma and French Indo-China is likely to appeal to General Chiang Kai-shek more strongly than even a favoured place on Russia's doorstep.

PASSIVE ATTITUDE

"The Times" in this connexion remarks that Russia has adopted a completely passive attitude in these critical days for China.

The paper adds that whatever may be the truth about Marshal Blucher's fate, it is tolerably clear that the Far Eastern Red Army does not feel itself in a position to repeat the experiment of Changkufeng by threatening a diversion in the north.

HIDEOUS SUFFERINGS

The unity of what is left of China can hardly be preserved save by persistence in the war which, even if it does eventually encompass the downfall of Japan, exposes the Chinese people to hideous and practically unalleviated sufferings.

Nor is Japan a victor without her troubles. She has ruined the greater part of what she has conquered, and the behaviour of her troops has laid the seeds of an enmity which, however kindly fortune may smile on her immediate aspirations, represents for ever a major obstacle to her national aims and requirements.

If demonstration were needed of the appalling folly and futility of war, the last fifteen months in the Far East have provided it.

SETTLEMENT PLAN FOR BRITISH COLUMBIA

Sir Henry Croft, M.P., chairman of the Empire Development and Settlement Research Committee, returned to England in the Queen Mary recently after making an 18,000-mile tour through Canada.

A great deal of his time was spent in British Columbia, where with Mr. Stanley Dalglish, Brig.-Gen. L. M. Hornby and his son, Mr. Michael Croft, he examined the possibilities of settling people from the home country.

Over 50 farms were visited, and the party was driven 400 miles through territory where at present there are no settlers.

"I am convinced that British Columbia holds out great opportunities for people who want to make farming their life's occupation, provided they are prepared to work hard," he said.

"The climax of our tour came with the offer by the Prime Minister of British Columbia to provide free land under a settlement scheme. With one exception every settler I met begged me to encourage people over here to go out there and make their homes in British Columbia.

"They are anxious that their communities should be increased by men and women from the home country."

A report is to be presented to the Cabinet in which some settlement schemes will probably be recommended.

average speed of 250 miles an hour. Ordered in quantity in 1935, it was the first of the new types of the expansion programme to come into service in large numbers.

Power is supplied by two Bristol Mercury engines of 840 h.p. each. The type has been released for sale to certain foreign countries, including Finland, Yugoslavia, and Turkey.

In official tests at Belgrade two Blenheims made a level speed of 284 miles an hour, or over 10 miles an hour above that specified in the contract.

Hollywood has been kidded by experts. Now Hollywood goes in for kidding itself and the cinema city proves it has a sense of humour by giving itself the works with a capital W.

The W. stands for Walter Wanger, that brilliant young producer whose pictures have a way of being off the beaten track—witness "You Only Live Once" and "Vogues of 1938"—and as was to be expected his "Stand-In," the screen version of the Clarence Budington Kelland Saturday Evening Post story, which is showing at the Majestic Theatre.

The quorum of 98 members is practically assured for the second plenary session of the People's Political Council, scheduled to open at Chungking on October 28.

The total number of members of the Council is now 194.

To exchange preliminary opinions, Mr. Wang Ching-wei, and Dr. Chang Po-lin, Chairman and Vice-Chairman, respectively, of the Council, called an informal meeting this morning.

During the meeting, Mr. Wang made a report on the latest military situation and explained to his audience the Government's strong determination in the war of resistance against Japan.—Central News.

The Chinese Women's Relief Association has received from the International Peace Campaign $118,105.60, amounting to over $3,000 (Chinese currency). The fund represents recent donations from the British public for relief of wounded Chinese soldiers.

WORLD FAIR

Good Site For Pavilion

Following a decision in principle taken by the eighteenth Assembly of the League of Nations in 1937 and later confirmed by the Council at its meeting in January 1938, the nineteenth Assembly, which recently concluded its meetings in Geneva, voted an appropriation of 1,200,000 francs to enable the League to participate in the New York World's Fair, which will begin in April 1939.

Model of The League Pavilion

The site chosen for the League pavilion is on the access to an important avenue and in the area devoted to foreign government buildings.

The architectural conception of the pavilion, which was finally chosen after consultation with a number of experts, consists of two parts symbolising the two planes on which the League operates. There will be a pentagonal base expressive of the work done in the five continents of the world, while a circular superstructure supported by a number of pillars suggests the ideal—the crown of the League of Nations—the whole representing an ideal founded upon a technique.

SYMBOLIC MOTIF

The centre of the ground-floor rooms will be occupied by a symbolic motif surrounded by League Assembly.

TENTATIVE JAPANESE MOVES FOR PEACE MADE

Approach For Great Britain's Services

NIPPON TIRED OF WAR

London, October 27.
Tentative movements are already being made in influential Japanese quarters to induce the British Government to offer its services for the restoration of peace in the Far East. It is understood that one or two prominent British businessmen are supporting the movement, but nothing of an official nature has yet taken place.

However, it is suggested that Great Britain might inquire of China and Japan whether they now wished for peace, and invite them to a conference—merely on that basis, not making any mention of terms on the one side or stipulations on the other.

Japanese circles affirm that the Japanese generals are as anxious as the civilians to end the war, in view of the enormous losses already caused to Japan in men, money and materials. Because of this it is confidently believed that Japan would give terms which China could accept.

One difficulty is that the Japanese people's expectations have been keyed to their highest point by excessive propaganda. A damping down process has now begun, as for example, the recent repeated warnings that Japan must not expect the fall of Hankow to lead to immediate peace, and that the war may easily last another five years.

As regards Japan's repeated declaration that she will have no dealings with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, it is pointed out that these are likely to prove much the same as the "Hang the Kaiser" cry of 1918. If China really shows a willingness to talk peace.—Reuter.

PEIPING EFFORTS

Peiping, Oct. 27.
While the Japanese are celebrating the fall of Hankow with an enormous display of fireworks, it is learned that the chief leaders of the Provisional Government are working out peace plans which will soon be made public. In an endeavour to persuade the Chinese National Government to come to terms with Japan.

General Hanzal, former Japanese adviser to the Peiping Government, is reported here to be co-operating in the scheme, while the Japanese in Peiping are harping on the necessity for peace.—Reuter.

NO FRESH INSTRUCTIONS

London, Oct. 27.
"I have been assured on excellent authority that Sir Archibald Clark Kerr has received no fresh instructions concerning mediation," writes Mr. Vernon Bartlett, well-known political commentator, in the "News-Chronicle" today.

"The British Government's attitude remains that it is prepared to offer its services as peacemaker when both sides make clear that that offer will be welcomed," he states.—Reuter.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR ARRIVES IN KUNMING

Kunming (Yunnan), Oct. 27.
Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, British Ambassador to China, arrived here by express train at 7 p.m. yesterday. He will proceed to the interior shortly.—Central News.

EX-BRITISH CONCESSION ENTERED

Hankow Oct. 27.
Last evening Japanese patrols had already entered the former British Concession, but they stated that they were anxious to see where they were allowed in order to inform the main body of troops which were arriving very shortly.

Japanese forces in the former German Concession entered Japanese buildings and some of the Chinese houses, but foreign property has so far remained untouched, and the Japanese have placed notices on several of the foreign buildings intimating their desire to respect ownership.

There have been no incidents, and the Japanese seem anxious to co-operate with the foreign authorities.

Admiral R. V. Holt, Senior Naval Officer of the Yangtze Patrol, has sent a message to the London Foreign Office, the Admiralty, and also to the British Ambassador, Sir Archibald Clark Kerr and Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador in Tokyo, stating that the Japanese were not informed regarding the safety zones, having arrived with the gendarmie ready to take over the concession. They expected to find foreign naval officials in the former British Concession, but were surprised to find them elsewhere.

The Admiral explained that Japanese patrols had taken over the former German Concession, and therefore he had withdrawn the British and Italian naval forces from there, while the former Russian Concession, manned by United States naval forces, had also been taken over by the Japanese, the American sailors retiring to their billets at the Navy Y.M.C.A.

Regarding the former British Concession, Admiral Holt said that he was constantly in touch with

China Prepares For Battle In West Hunan

According to reliable Chinese sources, it is said that when the Japanese landed at Blas Bay Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek secretary flew to Shikwan to confer with General Yu Han-mou and other high Kwangtung officials.

After inspection of the various front lines in the province, it was agreed that the Japanese would have the advantage with their highly mechanized units fighting along the regions near Blas Bay. It was then decided that General Yu should abandon Canton to preserve the main fighting power for the great battle which is to take place in west Hunan.

The Generalissimo was said to have anticipated this battle in west Hunan months ago. He has delivered part of China's best artillery units to the would-be battlefield in preparation for the impending battle.

DEPARTING ENVOY HONOURED

Berlin, Oct. 27.
The Grand Cross of the Order of Merit of the German Eagle has been conferred upon the French Ambassador in Berlin, M. Francois-Poncet, who is about to leave Germany to take up his new appointment as French Ambassador in Rome.

This high distinction was presented to the departing Ambassador yesterday on behalf of Chancellor Hitler by the Foreign Minister, Baron von Ribbentrop, at a luncheon.—Transocean.

Chiang To Define Policy

Chungking, Oct. 27.
An important pronouncement in the next few days by Marshal Chiang Kai-shek is foreshadowed by the political circles here. It will take the form of a manifesto to the Chinese people, in which he will set forth his reasons for carrying on the war as well as containing an appeal to world opinion.—Transocean.

the Japanese, who are ultimately taking over and policing the area. The matter is at present under discussion.

Meanwhile unarmed patrols of British naval and civil volunteers continue to work in the Concession.

CUSTOMS USED AS BILLETS

Another message from Hankow states that just outside the former British Concession are the Chinese Customs, which have been entered by the Japanese and taken over to be used as billets, despite very strong protests by the British Commission of Customs, Mr. Ensor.

The telegraph and telephone buildings are also utilised as billets.—Reuter.

CANTON FIRES STILL RAGING

Canton, Oct. 27.
Systematic setting fire to the city continued on Tuesday night, and throughout yesterday fresh outbreaks were occurring every hour.

Japanese sentries are taking over patrol duties on the Shakes bund, although no restrictions have been placed on foreign anti-looting patrols who traverse the Shakes front and East Bund, protecting the shops.

The Japanese authorities have prohibited the use of cameras anywhere in the city, and have even requested foreign authorities to prohibit the photographing of the Shakes front from Shameen.

SINCERE'S LOOTED

Last night there was large-scale looting at the Sincere department stores, but foreign anti-looting squads and Japanese soldiers cleared out the looters, later maintaining a watch on the premises.

Most of the city is still deserted, and there are signs of a return of the population, all of whom will find their homes and business a mass of cinders if the present incendiary continues unchecked.

The Japanese soldiers are working side by side with the foreigners with the common object of stamping out looting and incendiaryism. It is reported that H.M.E. Robin is proceeding to Wuchow tomorrow.—Reuter.

WOMEN'S PAGE

The Short And The Long Of It

Now there's another beauty problem before me—how to make small women look taller, and tall women look smaller. This sort of thing, you may say, can't be done. Surprising, though, how many cubits you can add to (or remove from) your stature if you take thought about your clothes.

IF YOU ARE TOO SHORT, REMEMBER

High hats are a godsend. If must wear a belt, let it be a very narrow one. Leave the check-coat-plaid-skirt fashion severely alone; because it will make you look much shorter.

Wear full-length coats rather than short jackets for the same reason.

Do not wear staggeringly high heels; they will draw attention to your lack of inches.

Have jerseys and skirts much the same colour, and do not have the jersey too tight.

In the evening choose plain, severe dresses with little trimming or jewellery. Any frills, flounces or feathers will make you look shorter still.

IF YOU ARE TOO TALL, REMEMBER

Flat hats will help a lot. Very wide belts and sashes are also excellent if you are not too thin.

Dark skirts, with boxy three-quarter-length coats or little light tweed jackets, bring down the height.

Plenty, softly-draped clothes, horizontal trimming, and built-up shoulders all make you look several inches shorter.

Light jerseys, cardigans and blouses worn with a dark skirt break the lengthening line that all one colour clothes tend to give.

In the evening, the tall girl is lucky. For she will look nice in almost anything, and can stand a lot of furs and jewellery without looking over-dressed. One obvious warning—avoid towering hair ornaments.

Round About

Eleven o'clock the Kowloon piers on the waterfront were deserted but for one of the larger vessels which remained overnight.

There was not much activity aboard the liner. Few visitors were moving about the ship. However, several people quietly conversed and passed the hours in the public rooms and bar.

A ship's officer was on duty in the Purser's Office where he tended to the paper work pertaining to his passengers and accommodations.

Traversing the long hall way on B Deck a middle aged, dignified gentleman, attired in a grey suit and hat arrived at the Purser's Office.

A slight hiccup announced his presence to the officer writing behind the bars of the office desk. "Yes, sir, what can I do for you?" inquired the white uniformed officer.

"I want to reserve a room, I like

"CHINESE ARE TOO GOOD"

Ranee Of Sarawak Talks About Far Eastern Hostilities

The Ranee of Sarawak, wife of the world's only white Rajah, told me on board the Rawalpindi when it stopped at Penang: "I think Bob Gregory hates me," writes a Penang correspondent.

Bob Gregory, all-in wrestler, is married to one of the Ranee's daughters, and her actual words to me were "Mrs. Bob Gregory is still in Hollywood, but she has not yet written to me, probably due to Gregory, who, I think, hates me."

The Bob Gregorys were married without the Rajah's consent.

"I want to make it quite clear," added the Ranee, "that the Rajah and I are very happy, and there is no question of any separation. That rumour was first started by the newspapers."

Referring to the recent crisis in Europe and the Munich Agreement, the Ranee said:

"It was marvellous and the safest thing Czechoslovakia could do. Mr. Chamberlain did his best. After all Herr Hitler could not be confined to his small Germany and he had to expand."

"Dr. Benes had to give up or be blown to pieces."

QUAINTLY PICTURESQUE BRIDAL GOWN

Or One Modern As A Streamlined Train!

NEW YORK.—This fall's bride may march to the flower-trimmed altar in a gown as quaintly picturesque as an old-fashioned garden or she may wear one as modern as a streamlined train. There are no set rules about the type of wedding dress she should choose. She can let her individual taste be her guide.

When it comes to the subject of colour, however, convention steps in and decrees anew that white's the thing for the bride who plans a formal wedding. She can dress her attendants in any or several colours that please her and are becoming to them, but she'll do well to remember that the smartest brides pick plain white for themselves.

Among the bouffant gowns, one of moire, white lace, white velvet and white taffeta are among the most popular fabrics. And white silk jersey which lends itself admirably to intricate draping is widely featured in the most exclusive bridal shops.

Among the bouffant gowns, one of cream-white moire, over a genuine hoopskirt, is outstanding. With a tight bodice, bracelet-length sleeves, puffed at the shoulders, and a softly draped, off-the-shoulder decolletage, this is utterly charming. With it, the bride might carry an old-fashioned bouquet of assorted white flowers.

BOUFFANT FROCKS

It's a new idea to put the maid of honour and the bridesmaids in copies of the wedding gown itself. For instance, a bride in a bouffant dress might have her attendants wear bouffant frocks exactly like her own except that theirs would be in colours—her's in white.

Smart colour schemes for fall include: the maid of honour in creamy golden brown, carrying a sheaf of orange and yellow flowers, and the maids in shades of yellow and pale orange.

Also, the maid of honour in a deep yellow gown with brown velvet ribbon sash and the bridesmaids in delft blue dresses with yellow and brown velvet sashes. All might carry bouquets of yellow and blue flowers. In all cases, though, their gowns are cut alike, the bride wears a veil and the attendants wear hats. This fall, they are more likely to wear tiny, flower-trimmed doll hats than huge cartwheels.

Temperamental Types

COQUETTE

(BILLIE BURKE)

COQUETTE (BILLIE BURKE, ELIZABETH ARDEN, LILY PONS). Her physical features are a petite figure, retouched features and curled coiffure. She is a feminine, frivolous woman, gay, provocative, demure, fragile, dainty—a hothouse creature made for having fun.

The coquette's wardrobe should have nothing tailored in it, should contain more dresses than suits (what suits she has will be trimmed with one of the softer furs). Her dance frocks will look as though made for moonlight.

She will find inspiration in the Du Barry and Pompadour, Colonial and Victorian styles. Her hats will be poke bonnets, Victorian toques and flower caps on soft-waved hair, in which she will use camellias.

The coquette will wear soft and crushable fabrics in non-aggressive pastel shades.

DISEASE CONTROL AND PROMOTION OF HEALTH

IT HAS ALWAYS BEEN THE POLICY of the League of Nations Health Organisation to give direct help as far as possible to Governments requesting it. Special reference was made this year to the help being given to the Chinese Government.

Such assistance had been provided continuously during the past ten years in order to reconstruct the health services in the immense territory of China through the creation of medical and public health institutions, reorganisation of the quarantine service, vaccination campaigns against cholera and smallpox, the organisation of medical education, etc.

All this work has been methodically planned and executed, the Health Organisation being represented at Nanking by a technical adviser attached to the central authorities.

SINCE THE SINO-JAPANESE CONFLICT the League has in addition despatched three anti-epidemic missions to China, organised in a flexible and mobile manner in order to meet all emergencies. Large stocks of medical and sanitary stores have been placed at their disposal and under conditions of great difficulty they have been combating outbreaks of plague, typhus fever, smallpox, cholera and dysentery. For this purpose, large quantities of vaccines have been donated by various Governments for this work of international co-operation for humanitarian ends.

But the Assembly considered that fighting disease was not enough. Accordingly, the League's Health Organisation was asked to devote increasing attention to the more positive policy of creating conditions of life favourable to the normal development and maintenance of the human organism.

It was recognised that the trend of modern thought has thrown into prominence the importance of physical and mental fitness which requires suitable conditions of life, especially in childhood and youth. Such considerations naturally go beyond the sphere of health into the wider field of social welfare.

IN THE MATTER OF PHYSICAL FITNESS, the aim is to lay the scientific foundations of rational physical education adapted to different ages and calculated to ensure the best physical development without falling into the snare of excess. This programme, which has been recently drafted by the Health Committee, is to be carried out through the creation of National Committees in countries where they do not yet exist.

The wide field covered by the League's Health Organisation is too little known. It is seldom referred to in the technical press, and health authorities, faculties of medicine and research laboratories cannot keep in touch with its developments. For this reason, the Assembly stresses the desirability of publishing a periodical giving the essential facts of the Health Organisation's activities.

For the work already done, the League deserves to be congratulated and it is to be hoped that it will continue.

LECTURE

Mr. John Russell gave an interesting lecture at the fortnightly meeting of the Theosophical Society yesterday, his subject being "Rationalism." A large gathering of members attended.

CHINA'S MAJOR PROBLEM

Appeal For Aid For Wounded

VOLUNTEERS FOR RED CROSS WORK

The adequate and efficient care of the wounded Chinese soldiers constantly looms as one of the major problems of the nation, second only to its armed resistance to the invading armies. Upon the solution of this problem depends ultimate victory or defeat.

Not only has China more than half a million wounded men at the present time, but as these lines are written news has reached us of a Chinese victory on the south bank of the Yangtze around Yangxin, which resulted in around 20,000 Japanese casualties.

The Chinese Red Cross Medical Relief Commission, therefore, appeals to the doctors, nurses and to the youth of China and Hongkong to respond immediately and generously to the call of their country to aid the wounded by offering their services to the Red Cross.

Here modern trained surgeons, doctors and nurses who join the Red Cross are put through a short war emergency medical course, using the base hospitals in Changsha for the severely wounded as a surgical training centre.

APPEAL TO STUDENTS

The Red Cross Medical Relief Commission is now appealing to China's middle school students to respond immediately to their country's need by volunteering for training as first aid medical units at the front.

Men from the Army Medical Service or from the Army itself will not be accepted as the Red Cross cannot undermine or compete with these branches of national service.

The Red Medical Relief Commission is convinced that the youth of the country is willing to stand side by side with the men who are fighting their country's battle of national salvation, and will go with them until China is free of their enemy.

As far as is known, only Dr. Eva Ho Tung has left to join Dr. Lim but there must be many more young people between 18 and 30 who would go if they knew the conditions under which they would work.

Volunteers should report to Dr. C. Y. Wu, Chinese Red Cross, 2nd Floor, Bank of Canton Building. They will travel via Haiphong and Yunnanfu to Changsha. If Changsha falls, the headquarters of the R. C. M. R. C. and the Training School will be moved inland but the work will go on as help is more than ever needed.

"PAYING CAMPS" IN KOWLOON

The houses would be well-constructed and could be erected and occupied in a month or so. They proposed to charge rent equivalent to $10 per section. The site for this camp would be behind Holy Trinity Church, near Argyle Road. Dealing with the financial position, it was reported that the Society had a credit balance of about $103,000. Prior to the present crisis they had a credit balance of $2,087.15. Between October 17 and October 27, largely through the efforts of Mr. T. V. Soong, contributions flowed in, and of this sum $50,000 had been remitted to Canton.

WELFARE WORK

In asking for volunteer workers for the refugee camps Father T. Ryan, S. J., said that welfare work in these camps was the interest of the Council, such as schools for the children and work and training for the adults. They were anxious that the work should be done by volunteers. There were other ways in which the various organisations could assist, such as paying for instructors.

Speaking of the situation in Canton, Bishop Hall said he had had little news. He had received a cable asking for men, food, vaccines and doctors as soon as the Pearl River was opened. He had already secured, with Bishop Valtorta's aid, a band of men, all Cantonese-speaking, who were ready to go, and he had contacted four non-Chinese doctors who might be able to go. The Hon. Dr. P. S. Selwyn-Clarke was taking up the question of vaccines and they were making plans for food to be sent.

QUITE A PROBLEM

Bishop Hall said that he did not have much information on what the refugee situation there was like, or was going to be like. It seemed a strong probability that at least 20,000 people would be left behind and he was inclined to think that they would be quite a problem. His impression was that the situation in South China was going to be more and more difficult as the winter wore on. He thought they ought to authorise the Committee to take Canton into consideration, in consultation with the Committee in Canton. This step was decided on.

Mr. B. Wille suggested that the Council should meet more often and it was decided to meet once a month.

At the conclusion of the meeting a vote of thanks to the Secretariat and to the Rev. Mr. Artus and Mr. E. M. Raymond for their valuable work, was passed unanimously.

HONGKONG AT BISLEY

Major D. H. Steers Gives His Impressions

The following is an extract from an article by Major D. H. Steers, R.E., published in the current issue of the Hongkong Rifle Association Bulletin:—

The appearance, for the first time in the history of the Colony, of representative teams in the two Inter-Colonial Matches at the Imperial Meeting last July, may be regarded as not only completing the initial programme of the Hongkong Rifle Association, but as proof that rifle-shooting, as a form of recreation, has taken its proper place in that far-flung "Outpost of the Empire."

At the outset, it should be explained that, although the Imperial Meeting started on July 4, it was not until exactly a week later that it was found possible for the powers-that-be of the National Rifle Association to convene a meeting of the Captains of the Overseas Colonial Teams, plus the members of the Bisley Committee, (not the N.R.A. Council), to decide whether the existing regulations regarding eligibility to take part in the Inter-Colonial matches, should be altered on the lines proposed by the H.K.R.A. Council, or whether the rule should remain unchanged.

I am particularly anxious that it should be realised by those who read this account, that neither Fellow nor Russell had had any real opportunity for practice on the ranges which they were going to use before they took part the next day, in the premier event, the "King's," since Russell merely had had time to fire off a few practice shots, while Fellow had not had even that limited advantage. I "scrapped through" with 85, (which necessitated a tie-shoot the next evening), which, fortunately was successful, so that the H.K.R.A. had three members who had survived the first "fence," but, alas, all fell at the second one.

We started off, with Fellow and Russell shooting first. What was passing in the mind of our President, naturally I do not know. But I do know what was passing through mine, and here are some of my thoughts and reflections, as far as I can remember them.

FINE START

All expectations were exceeded, when they left the firing point with the magnificent scores of 48 and 46 respectively. What would the others do? Rybot, who was obviously tired, but doggedly refusing to admit defeat, put on 42, while the "baby" of the team, Holmes, shot with wonderful coolness and consistency, and scored 45. Hongkong therefore left the 300-yards firing point with the "comfortable" aggregate of 181.

A short "breather," and we were off again. Fellow excelled himself by equalling his total at 300 yards with a 48, while Russell, shooting consistently well, scored only one point less, (47). Then Rybot, determined to rise to the occasion, annihilated all of us with a miserable 49, while Holmes increased his previous score by one point, finishing with 46.

For the last time in the match, Fellow and Russell went down to

RAIN AND DRIZZLE

Friday was a day of rain and drizzle, which had their compensations in that, with these conditions prevailing, it was unlikely that our arch enemy, the wind, was likely to be more than normally troublesome, which actually proved to be the case.

At 900 yards, Holmes and Rybot began to pile on bulls, although these were now and again interspersed with shots of lower value. A 41 by Rybot, and a fine 46 by Holmes was indeed a good start, and then came the turn of Edwards and Russell. Edwards found a place on the target with his sighting-shot, which was all that was wanted, but Russell brought many palpitations of the heart to those watching by missing the target, and the N.R.A. became richer by 2/6d. A glance at his rifle showed that the sights were not properly zeroed, and a prompt and kindly offer by Holmes of the use of his rifle was gladly and instantaneously accepted.

We went back to 1000 yards, with only one team above us, Burma, whose aggregate was 174 against ours of 170.

At the longer distance, however, we did not do so well, largely owing, in my opinion, to Rybot, who had been out all night on manoeuvres, being definitely tired, while Holmes was plainly showing signs of strain, as well he might after participating in two not unimportant matches on two consecutive afternoons. Edwards improved on his former score, as did Russell, who put on a wonderful 46, and whose aggregate of 90 was the highest made by any member of the team.

Once again Hongkong took fourth place, but this time a far larger margin separated us from the winners, since the winning score was 347, against our 333, while the lowest total was 306.

GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF INDUSTRY, COMMERCE IN CHINA

Strict Regulations Now Promulgated

Regulations for the control of agriculture, mining, labour and commerce during the period of national emergency have been promulgated by the National Government. The regulations vest the Ministry of Economics with powers to control over 40 different kinds of mining, industrial and commercial enterprises, subject to the approval of the Executive Yuan.

Enterprises relative to cotton, silk, wool, hemp, gold, silver, steel, iron, copper, tin, aluminium, nickel, lead, zinc, tungsten, antimony, manganese, mercury, foodstuffs, vegetable oil, tea, sugar, leather, paper, lumber, salt, coal, coke, kerosene, gasoline, crude oil, lubricating oil, lacquer, alcohol, cement, lime, matches, acids, alkali, pottery, bricks, glass, communication materials, electrical materials and apparatus, educational articles, medicinal articles, and artificial fertilizers, will be regulated.

The Ministry of Economics, according to the regulations, may take over the following enterprises or make joint private and government enterprises: (1) mining enterprises which are essential to war-time needs, (2) various industries for the manufacture of war supplies, and (3) electrical enterprises.

To meet war-time production needs, the Ministry of Economics may expropriate or requisition waste lands belonging to private individuals. No enterprises under the aforesaid specified list are allowed to suspend operation without the Ministry's permission, while those already inactive prior to the promulgation of the regulations must resume operation within a time set by the Ministry.

SCHMELING IN TITLE BOUT

CHINA'S MILITARY

Japan's Staggering Losses Revealed

RESISTANCE ENTERS FOURTH PHASE

With the Chinese forces on the Wuhan front, October 27. A Central News representative who called on high Chinese military commanders after the evacuation of the Wuhan tri-city area found them all optimistic regarding the future of China's war of resistance. Confidence in the ultimate collapse of Japanese militarism and the emancipation of China was reiterated during their frank conversations.

Referring to the third period of resistance during the last five months, they pointed out that China has attained her objective of wearing out Japan's strength. Japan's casualties, including dead, wounded and sick, reached the staggering figure of more than 400,000, exceeding the aggregate casualties of 350,000 for the first and second periods.

Strategically, they stated, Japan's objective during this period was not only to capture the Wuhan tri-cities but also to encircle and annihilate the Chinese forces, thereby winning a decisive war. Aware of the Japanese intentions, the Chinese, whilst putting up stout resistance to the invaders, managed successfully to avoid a decisive battle and to preserve their power of resistance intact.

From the tactical standpoint, the Chinese forces have achieved great improvements during the period. They adopted both offensive and defensive methods to inflict as heavy losses as possible on the Japanese.

Explaining the Chinese evacuation of the Wuhan tri-cities, the commanders said that the cities have lost their military significance. Japan's gain after paying the heavy price is but three towns lying in ruins.

After the evacuation of the Wuhan cities, the Chinese forces, they continued, have gained the initiative. Hereafter, China will engage in manoeuvring warfare extending over wide areas.

In splitting up the Japanese strength by such tactics there will be greater chance for the Chinese to exhaust and annihilate the invaders. The success of such warfare has been testified by Japan's reverses in south Shansi and the successful Chinese withdrawal from Wuhan.

With the lengthening of their lines the Japanese will experience more difficulties in transportation and will find their strength more inadequate to garrison the areas under their occupation. The Chinese can easily attack their weak points and constantly harass them.

China's manoeuvring warfare, they further stated, will prevent the functioning of puppet governments set up by the Japanese in areas under their occupation as it is absolutely impossible for Japan's limited armed force to protect them. Without the help of such puppet governments Japan cannot hope to execute her policy of "making the Chinese fight the Chinese" and "using China's financial and material resources to conquer China."

Whilst admitting China's difficulties in communications after the evacuation of the Wuhan cities, they pointed out that Japan's difficulties in this respect will be even greater than China's. Poor communications and difficult terrain in the interior will render Japan's mechanised armaments ineffective.

CHINA TAKES INITIATIVE

On the other hand, taking advantage of poor communications and the difficult terrain, the Chinese, they remarked, will use the main body of their troops to engage in manoeuvring warfare to

He was awakened by rocking and saw three men of whom were armed with revolvers. He was hit over the head with one of the weapons and at the same time told to keep silent. From his purse they took about $20.

Alongside the junk was an oyster boat.

Wong and his folks had their wrists tied behind their backs and were covered with quilts.

After the marauders had left and Wong had managed to release himself he found that the following was missing:

Two alarm clocks, a quantity of rice, 45 ducks eggs, clothing, two torches and an oar, to the total value of $19.70.

The robbers made off in the direction of the mouth of Deep Bay.

Admiral Holt Sees Japanese Officials

Hankow, Oct. 27.

Rear-Admiral R. Vesey Holt, Senior Naval Officer (Yangtze Patrol) contacted representatives of the Japanese Army at 10 o'clock this morning and arranged for British bluejackets to continue patrolling the former British Concession, except for the road separating it from the former Russian Concession.

The Japanese will also police the Bund in order to allow a corridor for the movement of troops between the different sections of the Chinese city.

Rear-Admiral Vesey Holt is calling on Admiral Kondo aboard his flagship H.L.M.S. Ataka at 2 p.m. General Inada, commander of the main Japanese forces is reported to be arriving from Hankow by air to-day.

Japanese planes continue to roar over the city.

One of the planes dropped pamphlets, signed by the Japanese Consul-General for Hankow, Mr. Hanawa, who is now in Kuki. The message intimated that the Japanese desire to respect foreign lives and property. The Race Club grounds, two miles away, are reported to be quiet and foreigners' parties have not been commandeered.—Reuter.

Japanese Sentry Takes Revenge

Shanghai, Oct. 27.

A Japanese sentry took revenge on a truckload of foreign and Chinese schoolboys to-day after one of them had thumbed his nose at the sentry.

This morning the truck was taking them to school from Ward Road. Gao, where their fathers are officers when one of the boys gave the sentry the "Shanghai gesture" as the truck was crossing Garden Bridge. The sentry poked his bayonet at the boy but did not hurt him.

Returning at noon the truck was barred by the sentry entering Garden Bridge and the children had to walk home.—Reuter.

BRITISH ARMAMENTS AT FLOOD SCALE

Peace Must Be Worked For, Says Sir Thomas Inskip

London, October 27.

British armaments output has now reached the scale at which it may fairly be described as flood, said Sir Thomas Inskip, Minister for the Co-ordination of Defence, in a speech to his constituents in Hampshire last night.

The question of a National Register, he said, was under close consideration, and after referring to the readiness for national service which had recently been displayed in a way which the country had perhaps not seen since the beginning of the Great War, he expressed the hope that the public would soon receive assistance as to the directions in which their services were wanted.

People knew at the present time that no compulsion was necessary to secure the public service that the country needed.

Dealing with the hopes of continued peace, he said nobody would suppose that we had secured the blessings of peace for all time or even for years by one stroke. Mr. Chamberlain's decision was a foundation, it was not an edifice. It was the beginning of a policy and not a single act. Peace must be worked for.—British Wireless.

COUNTRY FIRST RATHER THAN MONEY AND COST

went to Yenan, the political headquarters of the 8th Route Army, which was the most interesting spot in China. There he came to know and to understand the leaders of the ex-Communist Army.

GENTLEMAN AND SCHOLAR

At Yenan, he met Pang Teh-hual, the political director of the former Red Army and was privileged to stay with him and to have a number of long talks with him. Pang Teh-hual is not the hard, cold-blooded man many believe him to be, but a gentleman and a scholar, who wished, like the men under him, to do all he could for China. He admitted that the Communists had made many mistakes in the past and they were anxious to rectify them. He admitted that the attempt to seize the banks in Shanghai several years ago should not have been made and said they would not have known what to do with the money even if they did manage to seize it. Pang added that the Communist Party did not expect to obtain control of China, politically, for the next fifty years at least.

The speaker then described the hospitals in the districts now under the 8th Route Army and said that these were in some fifty caves, scattered over three mountains. Each cave was big enough to hold ten patients but there were no beds and, in order to reach them, the doctor had to pass over the bodies of wounded men nearer the entrance in order to reach those inside. Similar conditions existed so far as operating rooms were concerned: there was no electricity but they had to do the best they could under the circumstances.

In the 8th Route Army, said Dr. Brown, there are some 300 "doctors" but not one of these possessed a degree; they were, in most cases, youths of nineteen or twenty, who had served as ambulance bearers. Some of the wounded had carried their wounds about for as long as 34 years and they were in a deplorable condition; the most recent cases were "six months old." Death resulted not so much from wounds as from neglect. There was not sufficient water or nourishment for them, no such things as chicken or eggs, and no such things as clean blankets.

TYPICAL BANDIT

Ho Lung, he went on to say, was a typical bandit from the ranks.

At a "certain spot," he came to meet Nieh Gung-jen, a graduate of the University of Brussels, who spoke several European languages well. This man was 42 years of age and his presence proved that the "Communists" were not all riff-raff but that some were men of education who possessed a strong desire to serve their country.

In getting through their supplies, the 8th Route Army has many difficulties, asserted Dr. Brown, but each soldier is willing to work and to sacrifice everything in order to achieve their object. Instruction is given to guerrilla fighters who are not Communists and it is difficult to distinguish between these and the real Communists, for all wore peasant dress and all mix freely. Some of the instructions are:

"When you are wounded, keep quiet. Stay where you are. Don't crawl about. Children will find you and the womenfolk will care for you and bring you back to our lines."

Some of the wounded, after being taken back to the caves, said Dr. Brown, do not see sunlight for three or four months. If given proper medical attention, they would soon recover and be able to rejoin their comrades in serving their country instead of being invalided for life and being an expense to the Government and their country.

Contrary to the general belief that the 8th Route Army is well equipped with arms and ammunition of Soviet Russian make, they are, as a matter of fact, poorly equipped and what equipment they have comes to them through the generosity of the Imperial Japanese Army, on whose lines they make constant raids and capture as much booty as they can carry.

This is a deplorable state of affairs and should be remedied at once if these brave men are to do effective work. They at present do not attack organised Japanese groups but pick upon their weak spots and attack.

Describing General Chu Teh, Supreme Commander of the 8th Route Army, Dr. Brown said that he could not speak too highly of this man. Simple and unassuming, he admitted that the Communist Party had done wrong in the past and that they were sorry for it. He carries a Bible around with him always and tries to read it regularly, but he cannot understand some of it and he does not intend to let the Japs slap one of his cheeks and turn the other for him to slap also—not while he has his dagger handy.

Chu Teh is 54 years of age and has spent some time in Germany, studying the trench system after the Great War: he has never been to Russia. He is a most difficult man to approach as there is a strong protective system thrown round him: he is always moving around with his men and is never in the same place for any length of time. He lives, eats and sleeps with his men and their life is his. He hopes that the Communist Party will have representation in the Government after the war and, with him, it is never

LADIES' NIGHT AT Y.M.C.A.

Fine Programme Of Entertainment

The European Y.M.C.A. Ladies opened their season of Ladies' Nights yesterday with a very attractive programme of music, dance, and song, arranged and presented by Mr. Alfred J. French.

Eight of Hongkong's perennial entertainers fitted themselves comfortably into another charming presentation. We acclaim Gladys Pollard, Alfred French, Eva Turner, Helen Lockhart, Gaston D'Aquino, Victor Sanders, Peggy Scother, and E. O'Neill Shaw.

We bow once more to Mr. D'Aquino and to his rendering of "An English Rose" and to the Turner-Lockhart-D'Aquino-Sanders quartette for "In England, Merrie England."

An appreciative audience of some hundred souls strove to clap every performer into an encore. They succeeded two times with Miss Turner. We would like to hear again from this lady, the next time we help clap her into an encore, of "Yarmouth Fair."

We liked the quartette best, then the duet, and we liked the Scarf Dance. We also liked Mr. W. Ingram's thanking the performers, on our behalf, in the approved "awkward" English manner.—V. K.

many who profess Christianity, he said. General Chu Teh is definitely a better Christian than many so-called Christians. For instance, he and Pang Teh-hual have asked the missionaries to return and take back their churches. They opposed Christianity at first but this was because the Christians opposed them.

Asked whether Chinese herbalists could be of any help in tending the wounded and in performing operations, he replied that competent and well-trained men were wanted. Herbalists were good in their own way, but they could not extract bullets. If competent Chinese doctors would take up the work from a humanitarian point of view, rather than from the money viewpoint, they would be doing their duty to the country. He hoped the Chinese doctors would go to the front.

In a few choice words, Mr. Mok Kan-on thanked the speaker on behalf of the club members.

THOSE PRESENT

There was a very good attendance, those present including Dr. B. C. Wong, Lt.-Col. H. I. Murrow, Mr. Walker Hamming Chen, Dr. C. F. X. de Rosa, Messrs. K. S. Fung, Hon. Yui-sun and Tam Chak-lam (guests), Dr. F. I. Tsung, Dr. H. Y. Lai, Dr. Shanghai Fu, Mr. William Yinson Lee (China Regional Director of the Y's Men's Clubs), and Messrs. S. B. Tam, James Choa, James T. Choy, C. P. Wong, Albert Chan, Wei Tat, Jackie Poon, Cheung Wing-kue, Kan Man, Ho Shiu-que, Wong Kam-on, and teachings and the 8th Route Army. Peter S. Wong, Bern J. Many are better Christians than Edward Chen and Y. O. Lee.

BETTER CHRISTIANS

The address was received with prolonged applause, after which the speaker answered several questions as to the Christian Kam-yung, Wong Kam-on, teachings and the 8th Route Army. Peter S. Wong, Bern J. Many are better Christians than Edward Chen and Y. O. Lee.

England Beats Europe

45,000 PEOPLE SEE EXCITING FOOTBALL

London, Oct. 28. In sunny weather to-day, 45,000 spectators saw England beat the Rest of Europe at soccer at High-bury by three goals to nil.

England—Woodley (Chelsea); Sproston (Tottenham), Hapgood (Arsenal), Cullis (Wolves), Coppington (Arsenal), Matthews (Stoke), W. H. Ball (Tottenham), Lawton (Norwich), Goulden (West Ham), and Boyes (Everton).

Rest of Europe—Olivieri (Italy); Conti (Italy), Rava (Italy); Kupfer (Germany), Andreolo (Italy), Klitzinger (Germany), Aston (France), Braine (Belgium), Piala (Italy), Zsengeller (Hungary), and Brustad (Norway).

H.R.H. the Duke of Kent shook hands with the players before the game.

England made headway from the kick-off, but after this the Europeans, with quick tackling and long ground passing, threatened the English goal.

POOR FINISHING

The England forwards had the strong support of their half-backs but their finishing was poor.

The Europeans' speedy combined movements often spread-eagled the England defence. The European team played better together.

England's early attacks lacked method and pace, but later developed punch. The English wingers were prominent.

Hall scored for England in the 22nd minute of the game with a left-foot drive and Lawton, the young English centre-forward, added another in the 27th minute to put England two up.

The Europeans did not relax and continued with their deadly tackling.

At half-time, England led 2-0.

The Europeans played a determined game at the resumption but the England half-backs rarely allowed their opponents to gain shooting position.

Goulden then picked up a pass from Hall and scored with a left-foot shot in the 20th minute of the second half, and thereafter interest died from the game.

The final result was England 3, Rest of Europe 0.—Reuter

ARMY CRICKET TEAMS

The following have been selected to represent the Army against the Hongkong C.C. in friendly cricket matches to-morrow.

1ST XI (BOOKENDS)—Captain Godby, Major Murray, Major Swyers, Lt. Man, Lt. Cliff, Lt. Beadnell, Sgt. Batwell, Sgt. Baker, Pte. Coombes, Pte. Hatfield and Driver Logan.

2ND XI (AT H.K.C.C.)—Lt. Peel, Lt.-Col. Newham, Capt. Whatman, Lt. Cater, Lt. Hook, Lt. Chiversall, C.S.M. Northcott, C.Q.S.M. Paterson, Sgt. Painter, Sgt. Gill and Corpl. Webb.

NEW BACKSTROKE RECORD

Duesseldorf, Oct. 27. A new world record in the 200 metres backstroke was established here yesterday by Ida van Feggelen, the Dutch woman champion. Her time was 2 minutes, 40.6 seconds, which is an improvement of 17 seconds on the previous record held by the Danish girl, Ragnhild Brøgger.—Reuter

SENIOR LEAGUE PROSPECTS

BIG MATCH TO-MORROW AT CAROLINE HILL

Navy To Defend Unbeaten Record Against Chinese

BLAKE'S LEG INJURY IS LOSS TO KOWLOON

(By C.I.R.E.)

THERE IS AN ATTRACTIVE League football programme for the week-end and foremost interest will in all probability be centred on the Senior encounter between South China "A" and the Navy, which takes place in the Caroline Hill enclosure at 4.30 p.m. to-morrow. The Chinese with a sweeping win over Eastern last week by five clear goals have gone to the top of the table while the Navy have thus far not suffered defeat having beaten the Police, Kowloon and South China "B" and drawn with Kwong Wah.

With both teams at full strength against South China "A" at Caroline Hill last Sunday. On that occasion Suen Kam-shun and Hau Ching-to, their goal-getters, left their shooting boots at home for they were very sadly off their mark.

On the other hand, Kwong Wah put up a very splendid performance against the strong Middlesex side and lost by two goals to nil.

Once again Kwong Wah's failing lay in their forwards not taking a shot at goal straightaway and if they can dispense with dribbling to-morrow, and try some shots after the style of Suen Kam-shun, the electricians will probably find this to their advantage.

However, Eastern should gather both points.

A win for the Saints is indicated. The Police have yet to get together a good combination in their attack a problem which they have not settled satisfactorily.

At Happy Valley, Club will meet the Royal Scots and a keen match should ensue with the odds slightly in favour of the soldiers. The Club have so far won one, lost two (Eastern and South China "B") and drawn one, while the Scots have won one, drawn three and lost one match.

A snap goal in the early stages of the game may change matters vitally.

David Blake who is now in hospital following a serious leg injury sustained when playing against St. Joseph's at Caroline Hill last Saturday will not be available for Kowloon F. C. to-morrow and, in all probability, will be out of football for some time.

The absence of Blake is a severe blow to the mainlanders as their attack will lack just that extra impetus which the presence of Blake ensures.

Against South China "B" whom Kowloon will oppose on the home ground, Blake will be greatly missed. If Blake were able to turn out, a win for Kowloon would be a fair forecast but matters are now entirely different.

Last week South China "B" only just managed to drive home the issue against the Club whereas Kowloon lost to the Saints. Both teams have been beaten by the Navy. Chan Tak-fai and Lee Shek-yau will have to be watched and the Chinese defence will also have their eyes on Pat Jorge, the clever Kowloon inside-right.

A draw is indicated but there is a probability of an odd-goal win for the Chinese. On Sunday, on the Kowloon ground, Kwong Wah will be given a big test when they meet Eastern.

PROBABLE TEAMS

Probable teams for the week-end are as follows:—

SOUTH CHINA "A":—Pau Ka-ka-ping, Mak Shiu-hon, Lee Tinsung, Leung Wing-chiu, Lau King-chol, Lee Kwok-wai, Tang Kwong-sum, Lai Shui-wing, Fung King-cheong, Kwok Ying-kee and Lau Tau-man.

Rifle Shooting To Be Resumed On Sunday

The Association is recommencing its season after the unavoidable break due to repairs on the Ranges, on Sunday next with an interesting programme.

Individual competitions both for S.R. (a) and S.R. (b) will be fired at 200 and 500 yards and at 700 yards if time permits. The revolver range and claybird range are also offering attractive competitions.

SHANGHAI AGAIN

Last Match Of The Tour

The Shanghai Interport lawn bowls team played their last match here yesterday when they beat a combined Talkoo-Hongkong Electric team at Talkoo and won by 21 shots to 15.

Tea had to be a very rushed affair after the match as the team had to catch their boat which left for the North at 8 p.m. They took with them the Hongkong flag and a large number of enthusiasts, including officials of the Hongkong Lawn Bowls Association.

Details of yesterday's match was:—

SHANGHAI: K. L. Swartzell, W. McDermott, A. M. Gutierrez, H. Wallace (skip) 21.

TALKOO-ELECTRIC: S. Dean, W. McFrost, W. Seath, D. Munroe (skip) 15.

Concurrently a team match is being fired and it is understood that a team has been entered by the East Surrey Regiment. It is very pleasing to note their interest, and all members of the Association will welcome their presence on the Range. Firing commences at 8.45 a.m. sharp.

A new experiment will be tried out this Sunday—a Pool. Bull will be run concurrently at each range—both for S.R. (a) and S.R. (b). It is hoped that this will give added interest to members to fill in the time when they are not shooting.

The Bulletin printed by N. Mohammed of the Wing Shing Press was published yesterday and contains many interesting articles, chief of which is one from Major Steers of an account of the Colony team and the activities at Bisley.

Anyone wishing to obtain a copy, price 20 cents or $1 for all nine issues during the coming season, can do so on application to the Honorary Secretary, Major G. P. Murray, Garrison Adjutant's Office, Command Headquarters, or at the Clubhouse on the Kowloon Ranges.

The Peacock—(or White-Spatted Talpan)

This creature lives on very high ground, and occasionally descends upon the towns below and carries away case after case of H.B. BEER.

When he spreads himself it is a truly wonderful sight and everybody goes to see, whether they have been asked or not.

5,000 MILE DAY TRIPS IN FUTURE

The pilot, Captain D. C. T. Bennett, is no day-dreamer, but sees Mercury's record flight to South Africa as a "vision of the future."

This, he says in a report to Imperial Airways on the flight from Dundee to Orange River of the upper component of the Mayo composite aircraft—a long-range record for seaplanes.

It points, declares Captain Bennett, to a time when air communications between Britain and other parts of the Empire, will have been so speeded up that a five thousand mile flight will be regarded in the nature of a "hop," a day's excursion.

RANGE—IS QUADRUPLING—Stressing the tremendous potentialities of the "mid-air launch" plan, he points out that it made Mercury, otherwise a normal seaplane, into a record-breaker.

Unaided, Mercury has a range of not much more than 1,500 miles. Helped by the "launching" plane, Maia, its range is quadrupled.

Further, it could carry twice the normal load for double the distance which could be achieved by any ordinary aircraft.

FUEL COST—£100—Captain Bennett mentions that on the recent flight of the Mercury from Southampton to Montreal, the fuel bill could not have been more than £100 for 2,900 miles.

The launching of aircraft in mid-air could be applied also to land planes.
